

David J. Larson is currently Director of Scientific Marketing for CAMECA Instruments Inc.. He received his Ph.D. in Materials Science from the University of Wisconsin – Madison. He is the past- President (2014-2021) of the International Field Emission Society. He previously held positions at Seagate Technology, Oak Ridge National Laboratory, and the University of Oxford. He is a Microscopy Society of America Fellow and his other awards include the Burton Metal (Microscopy Society of America), Honorary Staff (University of Sydney), the Cosslett Award (Microbeam Analysis Society), Visiting Scholar (Corpus Christi College, University of Oxford), Honorary Staff (University of Alabama), Industrial Fellow (University of Wisconsin), President’s Award and Outstanding Recent Alumnus Award (University of Wisconsin – Eau Claire), and the Innovation in Materials Characterisation Award (Materials Research Society). He has approximately 300 publications, holds eight patents, and may be reached at david.larson@ametek.com.